You must take steps to bring the group together, retain the chosen individuals and make a team and transform them into a ‘Dream Team.’ It takes more than a paycheck to retain good employees. The staff must be in tune with each other and feel the appreciation by the owner to feel ‘in’ on stuff.

SDM Class of 2024 Secures Residencies

The future recently came into focus for the Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine Class of 2024, as over 40 of its members who sought a residency position successfully secured one. Additionally, one fourth-year student will enter private practice upon earning their DDS, and another has committed to a residency with the United States Navy Dental Corps. This year’s class will begin their careers across seven states, joining residency programs in general dentistry, oral and maxillofacial radiology, oral and maxillofacial surgery, orthodontics, pediatric dentistry and periodontics.
“I am so very proud of the Class of 2024, which is more than prepared for the next step in their journey, whether it be in residency, private practice or the military,” said Patrick Lloyd, DDS, MS, School of Dental Medicine Dean. “Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine has a long and proud tradition of educating students who will provide care for their patients that is both comprehensive and compassionate. I look forward to seeing these students thrive even further as they go forth from Stony Brook as the newest class of dental professionals.”

Thank you to Dean Peter Igarashi and Dean Patrick Lloyd for their leadership and guidance, which have led our students to success. Thank you also to our faculty and staff for your unwavering support of our students. You inspire me daily.

Research Symposium Promotes Discovery

Continuing its tradition of promoting discovery and providing insights that advance the field of dentistry, Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine held its annual Research Symposium on March 28, with more than 40 dental students, master’s students and residents presenting their findings at Stony Brook’s Student Activities Center.
We are fortunate to have the Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine within our own backyard and grateful that Dean Lloyd has taken such an active role in solidifying the bond between the school and our Society. His updates on the dental school happenings at our monthly Board meetings allow us to keep our finger on the pulse of what is going on at the University.

Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine:
First-Year Students Fit for White Coats

Symbolizing their commitment to the profession of dentistry and optimal care for their patients, the School of Dental Medicine’s Class of 2027 officially accepted their new attire – fresh white coats – at the annual White Coat Ceremony, held on April 15 at Sidney Goldber Auditorium in Stony Brook University’s Student Activities Center. Forty-five students crossed the stage in front of their family and friends, as well as faculty, staff, senior leadership of the Suffolk County Dental Society and industry partners in attendance. Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine:
Pediatric Dentist Selected as 2024 Distinguished Alumnus

As Reneida Reyes, DDS ’78, MPH, took the stage at Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine’s White Coat Ceremony in April, the decorated pediatric dentist began her address with two words: Tempus fugit. In Latin: “Time flies.” Back on the Stony Brook campus once more, Dr. Reyes has made the most of her time as a practitioner, teacher and in organized dentistry, prompting the SDM’s Alumni Chapter to name her as this year’s recipient of the Distinguished Alumnus Award. SDM Grads to ‘Make a Difference’

Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine’s (SDM) Class of 2024 entered the Staller Center for the Arts one last time as students for their convocation ceremony, and they left as the newest wave of dentists to join the workforce, smiling ear to ear alongside their family, friends and classmates.
Gaining momentum: License portability on the horizon
Maine activates Dentist and Dental Hygienist Compact

“I am excited to see how we progress as other states join the DDH Compact and continue to expand the portability for dentists in the U.S. This is an achievement that has been a long time coming,” Dr. Howe said.

Stony Brook University Hospital MART
Q & A session:

“We have heard that the School of Dental Medicine is being equipped with a café that will serve food for the South Campus. Can you please give us an update on that project?”

“Early on in the development of the Lake Grove clinic there was talk about having a dental clinic there that would be administered by the School of Dental Medicine. Is this still the plan?”
