Celebrate Dental Educators Day at the SDM

Could a career in dental education be right for you?

Join us for the School of Dental Medicine's fourth annual Dental Educators Day celebration, at which Drs. Brian Howe and Tanya Somohano-Marquez will share their journeys to academia, the rewards of teaching and mentoring future dentists, and some unexpected benefits of an academic career — including the Dental Faculty Loan Repayment Program.

Date: Thursday, October 8, 1 – 2pm

Location: 111 Rockland Hall

Lunch will be available for students in attendance

First-come, first-served

Dental Educators Day

Why They Teach

Dental educator spotlight

"The most rewarding aspect of teaching is witnessing students learn, grasp, and ultimately conquer a skill. Knowing that I get to be a part of that journey each year is a true honor."

Rekha Reddy, DMD

Clinical Assistant Professor
Department of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery

Learn more about the pathway to academia as the School of Dental Medicine celebrates Dental Educators Day on Thursday, October 8 from 1 – 2pm in 111 Rockland Hall.

Dental educator spotlight

"Teaching dentistry is rewarding because it combines two things I deeply value: patient care and education. Watching students develop their skills, overcome challenges, and gain confidence is incredibly fulfilling. I hope our students will consider becoming educators themselves, whether full-time or alongside clinical practice, so they can share their experiences and inspire the next generation"

Ana Carolina Botta-Maltese, DDS, MS, PhD

Associate Professor
Director, Division of Operative and Dental Materials
Department of General Dentistry

Dental educator spotlight

"One of the most rewarding parts of teaching is watching students grow from dental students into confident young professionals. I enjoy being able to share the lessons I have learned throughout my career, not only about dentistry, but about judgment, communication, ethics and the realities of practice. If something I teach helps a student make a better decision for a patient or feel more prepared for life after dental school, then I feel I have accomplished something meaningful."

Jeffrey Seiver, DDS

Clinical Associate Professor
Department of General Dentistry

Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine: Welcoming OMFS Residents From Lincoln Hospital Through New Partnership

Through a new partnership, Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine welcomed its first group of oral and maxillofacial surgery (OMFS) residents from Bronx-based NYC Health + Hospitals/Lincoln this July, marking the new beginning of a collaboration that expands advanced surgical training while enhancing patient care at Stony Brook University. "It is with great excitement that we welcome the first two residents to this program," said Patrick Lloyd, dean of the School of Dental Medicine. "Their arrival marks the beginning of an important milestone for our school, and we look forward to watching them develop into outstanding oral and maxillofacial surgeons while advancing our mission of excellence in education, research and patient care." SBU to host Give Kids A Smile Day

Stony Brook School of Dental Medicine will host its annual Give Kids A Smile Day at its Dental Care Center, 1 South Drive, Stony Brook on Thursday, Aug. 27 from 2 to 4 p.m. with special appearances by The Tooth Fairy, Mr. and Mrs. Tooth, Wolfie the Seawolf and a caricature artist.

Children ages 1–17 will receive a FREE dental screening, cleaning, fluoride treatment, and sealants (as needed) in support of their mission to ensure that all school-aged children have access to good oral health. Each child will be provided with a dental health kit, string backpack, school supplies and a “Summary of Exam” form that will document the treatment rendered and recommendations for further treatment, if necessary.

Appointment registration is required, and a parent or legal guardian must accompany the child on the day of the event. To schedule an appointment, please call 631-632-8967 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A Month Dedicated to Healthy, Confident Smiles

October shines a spotlight on oral health as we celebrate National Dental Hygiene Month and National Orthodontic Health Month. It's the perfect time to focus on healthy habits that support a lifetime of confident smiles. From daily brushing and flossing to routine dental visits and orthodontic care, small steps today can help prevent problems tomorrow. Whether you're maintaining oral health or working toward a straighter smile, October is a great reminder that a healthy smile is an important part of overall well-being.
